Honour God

2. Waiting on his presence

Honour

1. Respect every human being as an image bearer of God (I love addressing a homeless person as "sir" when I stop my car and ask him for directions. I enjoy seeing a well-dressed man like myself address him with dignity and then seeing his eyes light up and wanting to do anything he can to help me have the proper instructions).
2. Put other people before ourselves according to the attitude of Christ shown in Philippians 2:3-12.
3. Recognize and celebrate one another's unique gifts, personality and calling.

Honour

4. Highly regard one another with our words when we are not with them personally.
5. Understand the challenges of others and how the Lord is processing them to maturity towards their unique calling (knowing a person's context helps us honor them properly).
6. Defer to one another and make room for one another's gifts (jealousy is the opposite spirit of honor because it breeds insecurity and limits your ability to accept a person's calling, ability and place in the kingdom).

Honour

7. Recognize the true value of each person's contributions and speak it to them and to others.
8. Give a person monetary gifts or public praise and recognition equal to the quality, sacrifice and kind of work they have accomplished.
9. Do all we can do through our prayers, acts of kindness and teamwork to aid those around us to accomplish their calling in the kingdom.
10. Use our gifts to serve, and protect other people.

Honour

11. See husbands love their wife and overlook their weaknesses and commit themselves to their spouse's success.
12. See wives respect their husband in spite of their shortcomings. They release them to love and protect and provide for them and their family.
13. Trust a person's word. Through this, we give them honor and respect.
14. Keep our word to a person. Through this, we honor them and show them respect
